Game Automation Using Python
May, 2023
    With Python as programming language, this Game Automation script is made to automate several tasks which user must otherwise perform manually.

After the script starts, it waits for a space key input to set in running state.
Then the user must set 5 initial touch-points & initial storage variable afterwhich script's automation takes over.
Image Detection using OpenCV is responsible for detecting what is current state in the dynamic game environment.
Pyautogui library is then used to create mouse inputs to control the game.
